Dieffenbacher has decided to form an alliance with Holtec for the wood yard technology. This new strategic alliance will be named 'Logyard Alliance'.

With this step Dieffenbacher extends its product portfolio and offers now complete system solutions for the wood based panel industry from the log to the board.

Holtec contributes many years of know-how in log handling. With the design and manufacturing of complete wood yards with log conditioning, debarking as well as stranders and chippers, customers will now be able to get a complete solution from a single source.
